The shadows of a candlestick show a difference between the open and the low price of the stock. The Bearish has a long upper shadow and a short low shadow. What this shows is that the buyers started in charge, but the then sellers took over, and the prices dropped so the closing price was low. This is what makes the shadow longer.

"You are the first true Clan that I've known. I was raised in ShadowClan when it was falling apart. The cats there turned on one another. When they faced problems, they were no better than rogues. But SkyClan is different. You took me in and welcomed me. You taught me how cats can overcome even the worst times. You lost your home, you lost one another, but you found one another again and kept ...
